New Testament Lecturer

Applications are sought for the position of New Testament Lecturer at Vose Seminary, Perth, Western Australia (1.0 FTE)

A rare opportunity exists for an experienced lecturer to join the team at Vose in a full time position as the New Testament Lecturer, commencing in January 2017.

Founded by the Baptist Churches of Western Australia in 1963, Vose has been providing theological training in Perth for over 50 years, and offers face to face and on-line studies from the VET level all the way through to the PhD. Vose is a member College of the Australian College of Theology who accredit our degree courses. The Vose library houses Western Australia's largest theological collection.

This is a significant position within the organisation and the successful candidate must have highly developed teaching skills in the areas of Biblical Greek and the New Testament. They must also have the capacity to effectively mentor and develop our students, many of whom are training for pastoral ministry. Included in the role is the supervision of research students. It is also a requirement for all faculty members at Vose to be committed members of a local church and to agree with the Vose Seminary statement of faith.

Applicants should send a cover letter, detailed CV and address the selection criteria (available on the seminary website). Applications should be received no later than August 31, 2016
