

EDITOR OF COLLOQUIUM

The Australian and New Zealand Association of Theological Schools (ANZATS) Limited (ACN: 145 380 749) operates as a peak body for theological education in Australia and New Zealand. It hosts an annual conference and publishes an academic journal, Colloquium.

Colloquium was established in 1968, and has been published each year in two issues (May and November). Its current Editor, Dr Anne Elvey, will step down in mid 2017 after five years in the role. The Council of ANZATS is now seeking a successor to Dr Elvey.

The successful candidate will be a person who is a recognised and respected member of the Australian and New Zealand theological academy, administratively efficient, in a position to develop a network of review readers, and of sufficient gravitas to be respected by authors of submitted articles.

In consultation with the ANZATS Council, and working with the Editorial Panel, the Editor will

- have oversight of policy and procedures for Colloquium's operation;
- recruit readers, invite and receive submissions and allocate them to readers;
- enhance the reputation of Colloquium and report on progress towards meeting the KPIs of reputational enhancement agreed by the ANZATS Council;
- appoint and oversee the work of a suitable Proofreader to work with the Copy Editor;
- where appropriate, determine the content of each issue, commission articles, write editorials and edit articles in the light of readers' comments; and
- report at least annually to the ANZATS Council and the Editorial Board.

The initial term of appointment will be three years, subject to review after twelve months. After the initial three year term, the Council may re-appoint the Editor for a further term of no longer than three years, renewable thereafter by mutual agreement. It is expected that the successful candidate will be appointed by the end of February 2017 and will participate with Dr Elvey in the preparation and publication of the May issue of Colloquium.

Remuneration for 2017 will be $5000 p.a. prorated.

The Editor is eligible to stand for election or be appointed to the ANZATS Council.
